Summit Collapses Over Plane Incident

Soviets Declare Space Ship on Course

Man Going Up Soon, Say Reds Report Getting Signals on Orbit

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviets say their 4½-ton dummy-manned space ship—the biggest satellite ever launched—is whizzing around the earth on course.

"There soon will be a man in space," the Soviets said.

Hurled aloft by a superrocket, the giant ship was reported sending back signals confirming "the good agreement between its actual orbit and the calculated one" for its flight around the globe every 91 minutes.

Still Problems

Dr. Viktor Bazzkin, director of the Moscow Planetarium, conceded there are still problems to be solved before sending up a live astronaut—the main one being how to get him back to earth safely.

The official news agency Tass said no attempt will be made to retrieve the dummy passenger riding in a pressurized cabinet with "all the necessary equipment for a future manned space flight."

Soviet scientists said the 2½-ton cabinet would be separated from the satellite after the "necessary information" is received but would burn up in the atmosphere as it drops.

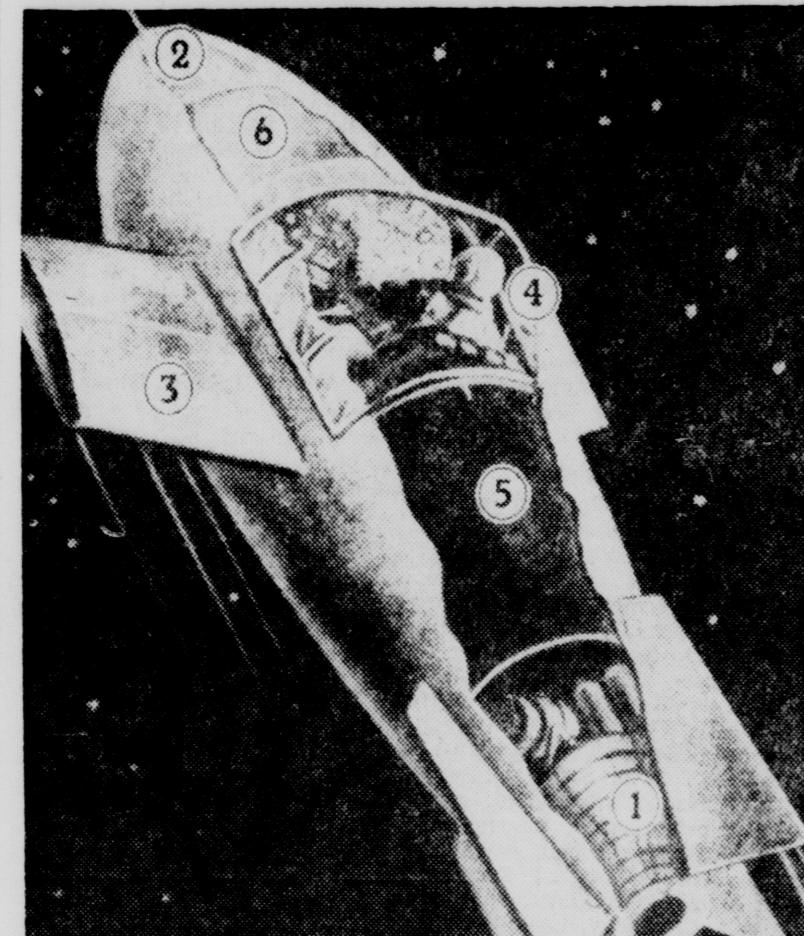

Give Skimp Details

The Soviets gave only skimpy details Sunday in announcing the launching of their latest space vehicle on the eve of the Paris summit conference.

I. I. Shevyakov, head of the scientific methodological department of the Moscow Planetarium, said "the flight of this ship will go down in the annals of aeronautics as one of the last steps before mankind's emergence into outer space."

Prof. Vladimir Dobronravov, a top space man, said the launching was linked with the "super-rocket test firings" into the Pacific last January. In London, a spokesman for the British Interplanetary Society estimated the rocket propelling the Soviet ship was two or three times more

SOVIET MODEL OF POSSIBLE SPACE FLIGHT—This drawing was taken from "Journey Into The Cosmos," published in Moscow in 1955, and was captioned as showing how the first manned artificial earth satellite might look. Tass, official Russian news agency, said May 15 that the Soviets put a 4½-ton space ship into orbit around the earth with a "dummy spaceman" aboard. This drawing was described as showing: (1) jet motor; (2) sealed parachute for breaking descent; (3) movable jet wings; (4) sealed pilot's cabin; (5) fuel tanks and (6) oxidizer for operation of jet engine to increase speed and for landing. Defends Flights Over Soviet Union

Nixon Says Spy Plane Should Be Aired First

NEW YORK (AP)—Vice President Richard M. Nixon declared Sunday night that some good had come out of the U2 spy plane affair and said the Big Four leaders should "put surprise attack at the top of the summit agenda." He defended reconnaissance flights over the Soviet Union under the present conditions and denied that the United States had arrived in timing the flight just three weeks before the opening of the summit meeting in Paris today.

In an extraordinary, marathon television interview that ran nearly four hours into the early morning, Nixon said the United States could not afford any gap in its intelligence.

As for the U2 flight timing, he observed: "There is never a right time to make one of these flights if you're going to get caught."

Apparently unruffled and cool, Nixon sat under a wide-ranging barrage of penetrating questions while interviewer David Susskind smoked cigarettes and sipped coffee.

Concerning the good in the U2 affair, Nixon said: "The plus is this. You realize that this flight clearly demonstrates the feasibility of the 'open skies' proposal of the President."

He noted that the proposal, suggested by Eisenhower at the Geneva summit meeting in 1955, was to protect Russia, the United States and all other nations from a surprise attack.

"This flight demonstrates that unarmed planes can take photographs without causing any damage, any harm at all to commercial aviation or the national security of the country over which the flights are made," Nixon added.

In the 3 hours and 45 minutes of talk on WNTA-TV's "Open End" program, the vice president declined to answer only two questions and squirmed noticeably. That was when Susskind asked if he ever regretted name-calling in his early political career.

"Every man obviously changes in the years," Nixon answered, "and I won't say that through the years I didn't make mistakes."

Police Accuse City Youth Of Thefts of 3 Cars Here

Premier Cancels Ike Visit

West Officials Point to Insults

PARIS (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev withdrew today his invitation for President Eisenhower to visit Russia.

Western officials accused Khrushchev of torpedoing the summit conference.

These informed officials predicted a quick end of the summit talks following today's three-hour session.

Insults Reported

Officials reported Khrushchev had made insulting remarks and demands at today's meeting.

They also asserted the Kremlin chief flatly withdrew his invitation for Eisenhower to go to Moscow. The visit had been scheduled for 10 days starting June 10.

Western officials said Khrushchev's remarks at the first session were filled with inaccurate statements. They said he insisted that unless Eisenhower met all his demands promptly there would be no summit conference.

The Kremlin chief was reportedly made it clear he did not regard the first session as part of any summit conference.

Called Empty Formality

There was tentative agreement for the Western Big Three to meet again Tuesday morning but Western informants said they looked on this arrangement as an empty formality.

Meanwhile, a Soviet spokesman said Khrushchev assured the United States for the May 1 U.S. spy plane incident and added:

"This is not the only case of aggressive action by the United States against the Soviet Union. The Soviet Union naturally is compelled to show up the aggressive nature of these acts."

Says Version Absurd

The United States first of all issued an absurd version, saying it was a weather plane which lost its way."

The Soviet spokesman reported Khrushchev said the President confirmed the flights "Have been and remain the calculated policy of the United States. This confirmed by the U. S. government." He added:

"Thereby, the U. S. government is crudely flouting the principles of international law and the charter of the United Nations too which the United States and the U.S.S.R. are signatories."

The Soviet spokesman said Khrushchev asked how agreement could be sought on settlement of problems of easing tension "when the government of one of the great powers declares bluntly its policy is an intrusion into the affairs of another state."

Khrushchev, he added, said it was clear U.S. proclamation of such a policy, "which is possible only in time of war, dooms the summit conference to failure in advance."

"If the American planes fly over U.S.S.R. territory, we will shoot them down."

Red Boss Asks Wait Six Months

U. S. Policy Hit In Bitter Attack

PARIS (AP) — The summit conference collapsed in its first session today, with the Soviet Union and the United States accusing each other of torpedoing the historic session called in an effort to ease world tensions.

The meeting foundered over the U2 incident.

Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev, bitterly attacking U. S. policy, called for a six-month delay and said a later U. S. administration may understand the situation if the present administration can't. He withdrew his invitation for President Eisenhower to visit the Soviet Union next month.

Promises End of Flights

President Eisenhower promised there will be no more U. S. spy flights over the Soviet Union but said:

"The only conclusion that can be drawn from his (Khrushchev's) behavior this morning was that he came all the way from Moscow to Paris with the sole intention of sabotaging the meeting on which have rested."

Today's 3-hour, 5-minutes session may be the last for this summit conference.

Wants Two-Way Talks

Eisenhower challenged Khrushchev to private two-way talks to save the conference.

"We of the United States," the President said, "are here to consider in good faith the important problems before this conference. We are prepared either to carry this point no further or to undertake bilateral conversations between the United States and the U.S.S.R., while the main conference proceeds."

Aides said Eisenhower considered Khrushchev insulting in his charges that negotiations were hopeless as long as, in the Soviet Premier's words, the United States was threatening the Soviet Union.

State May Name Rocky In Favorite-Son Role

ALBANY, N. Y. (AP)—A move to put Gov. Rockefeller's name before the Republican National Convention as a favorite-son candidate for president appeared in the making today.

L. Judson Morhouse, Republican state chairman and a close political associate of the governor, said Sunday Rockefeller "should not be ruled out of consideration for the presidency."

This immediately raised speculation that the 96-vote New York delegation, largest at the convention, might put Rockefeller's name before the delegates.

Declines Offer

Rockefeller publicly withdrew in December from the race for the nomination and repeatedly has said he would not accept the vice presidential nomination.

The governor, who had been expected to head the state's delegation to the convention, has declined an offer of his choice of top positions at the July party gathering in Chicago.

Lawson, charter president of the Saugerties Jaycees and one of its founders, succeeds Lewis A. Arnowitz, an Albany attorney.

"If we are honest with ourselves, we must recognize...that the place for that broad appeal, reaching beyond party lines, is at the head of the ticket. Its absence cannot find or claim compensation elsewhere."

Forceful Leader

Although the governor was "not an active candidate and he will not seek the nomination," Morhouse said, "Rockefeller — along with Vice President Richard M. Nixon—is one of the truly forceful and distinguished leaders on the national scene."

Rockefeller "should not be ruled out of consideration for the presidency and he should not rule himself out," the chairman maintained.

Nixon is the only avowed candidate for the GOP presidential nomination. Neither Rockefeller nor Morhouse has publicly endorsed the Vice President.

Rockefeller rejected the convention posts of keynote speaker and

Contest Hinted at G.O.P. Convention; Nixon Has No Doubt About Nomination

A faint hint from New York nominate Rockefeller as a favorite son candidate at the Republican convention in Chicago.

Nixon Has No Doubt

But Vice President Richard M. Nixon, the clear favorite now, seemed to have little doubt of the outcome, either at the Republican or the Democratic convention.

He reportedly predicted that he would be the Republican nominee and Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts the Democratic nominee.

In his statement from Albany, Morhouse said Rockefeller was correct in resisting pressure to accept the vice presidential nomination.

Some political observers thought this meant New York intended to Morhouse said "Its absence there cannot find or claim compensation elsewhere."

Rockefeller, in a letter to Republican National Chairman Thruston B. Morton Saturday, had said he would not attend the national convention. He did not want the delegates to misconstrue attendance as willingness to accept second place, Rockefeller said.

Post Office Safe Found in Creek

A 200-pound safe taken from the Ulster Park Post Office last week was recovered from Rondout creek on Abeel Street just outside the city limits during the weekend.

Contents of the steel safe were apparently intact, with the exception of $275 in cash which had been removed.

County Investigator Arthur Brown said the safe was discovered just under the water by a group of men who had been testing their motorboat. They had some trouble with the motor and pulled it into shore where they saw the safe.

Brown identified the men as Nick Roberti of Eddyville, Fred Wolfe of 68 Pine Street, and Walter Petruski of 100 McEntee Street.

The sheriff's office was notified of the discovery by Louis Roberti, who operates Lou's Boat Basin.

Brown, Undersheriff Clayton W. Vredenburgh and Deputy Sheriff Peter Peterson went to the scene, removed the safe from the water and notified Post Inspector Robert Daley of Kingston.

Brown described the opening of the safe as a "rip job." The door had been badly damaged when it was jimmied open.

A stock of stamps worth $1,000, some 50 money order forms and post office records were still in the safe, but damaged by water.

The safe was removed from the post office some time Tuesday night, burglars drove up to the rear, smashed open the door and hauled the safe away.

Youth Being Held

the investigation, reported this morning that the Ulster County sheriff's office received a call about 12:05 a. m. Sunday for a routine check a short distance south of the Mirror Lake Lodge, Smith, Harrison Rose and Michael Stuper were dispatched.

When they drove past the lodge on their return they saw a large crowd gathered in the middle of the road.

A fight, reportedly in progress, broke up when they appeared.

Doyle asked for Fogarty's arrest on an assault charge, saying that the New York City youth had gotten "nasty" inside the lodge and punched him in the mouth.

The deputies took Fogarty in custody and drove him to the office of Justice of the Peace Allen S. Dargie in New Salem.

They took him out of the car but he refused to enter the office. Stuper took his arm and Smith walked over to help. As Smith approached, Fogarty struck him in the mouth with his fist.

Rose and Stuper seized Fogarty, slapped handcuffs on him and took him to jail.

Warrant Pending

Statements were taken by Mayone on the Smith incident and a warrant issued for Fogarty's arrest on a charge of assault second. Service of this warrant is pending.

Fogarty was arraigned this morning before Judge Dargie on the Doyle charge, asked for time to obtain counsel which was granted. The hearing was set for 6 p. m. Wednesday, May 25.

Mayone said that Fogarty and an older brother came up from New York to visit their mother in Palenville.

Fogarty and several friends visited the lodge Saturday evening. Fogarty is described as six feet tall, weighing 180 pounds.

Wire Reported Stolen

A total of 708 feet of live wire has been stolen from Central Hudson utility poles in the Town of Saugerties during the past week. The wire was cut in the High Woods, Blue Mountain and Zena areas, according to Kingston State Police who are investigating.

One Study Shows N.Y. Port To Lose Some Over 25 Years

NEW YORK (AP)—A Harvard University study published today states that the Port of New York will lose business to other areas in the next 25 years, but that the effect of the St. Lawrence Seaway will be minor.

The port will continue as the nation's major gateway for foreign trade and volume will grow, the study held, but other ports will attract an increasing share.

However, the Seaway will gain only about two per cent of New York's share of the nation's ocean borne general cargo by 1985, the study predicts.

Among the reasons cited for this are that the kind of shipping the Seaway might divert is not large and that the Great Lakes probably won't develop enough services to compete with New York.

The study, "Freight and the Metropolis," was written by Benjamin Chinitz for the New York Metropolitan Region study series. The region takes in 22 counties—

12 in New York, nine in New Jersey and one in Connecticut.

Chinitz, currently an associate professor of economics at the University of Pittsburgh, says that the seaway could offer Atlantic ports real competition in rates.

But he predicts that ships using the Seaway will continue calling at many ports along the way, wasting time in long transits.

He estimates that the Seaway's big attraction will be in shipping raw materials like iron ore and grain, which do not figure large in New York's business.

The study also points out that the Seaway route is closed by freezing in winter.

Chinitz says that Seaway ports would do better if they fostered port concentration, but he doubts that this will happen.

Stevenson Called To Talk About Time for Debates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson was called today as the lead-off witness on a bill prompted by his own proposals for a series of pre-election television debates by major party presidential candidates.

A Senate Commerce subcommittee also planned to hear from spokesmen for the Republican and Democratic National Committees and the chairman of the Federal Communications Commission.

Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate in 1952 and 1956 and a possible contender this year, has urged that television time be set aside for debates on the great issues confronting the country.

This idea was put into a bill introduced March 10 by Sen. Warren G. Magnuson (D-Wash.), chairman of the full Commerce Committee, and 22 other senators—all of them Democrats except for Sen. Francis Case (R-SD).

The bill would require all television stations and networks to make available, without charge, two hours a week during prime viewing hours for debates by the major party presidential candidates during each of the eight weeks preceding a presidential election.

Denies Herter Says Spy Planes Are to Continue

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Christian A. Herter has not declared that U.S. spy flights will continue over the Soviet Union, says George V. Allen.

Allen, director of the U.S. Information Agency, said Sunday in a television interview "there has been a great misunderstanding that I would like to correct."

Allen said Herter had stated "that there is an obligation and responsibility on the part of the U.S. government and of the free world to try to obtain information to guard against surprise attack, but he has not said we are going to continue to fly."

Commenting a week ago on the shooting down of an American plane inside Soviet territory, Herter said in a special statement:

"The government of the United States would be derelict in its responsibilities, not only to the American people but to free peoples everywhere if it did not, in the absence of Soviet cooperation, take such measures as are possible unilaterally to lessen and to overcome this danger of surprise attack. In fact, the United States has not and does not shirk this responsibility."

At the time, State Department press officer Lincoln White did not seek to discourage newsmen from interpreting the Herter statement as notice that flights over the Soviet Union would continue until here is East-West agreement on steps to guard against surprise attack.

NEWBURGH, N. Y. (AP)—Albert J. Beiter, 22, spotted a State Police radar speed trap while driving on Route 9W Sunday.

He turned around, drove back a short distance and parked at the side of the road.

Then he hung on his car a sign reading "slow down—Radar ahead."

Troopers caught him and took him before Magistrate Michael Brown of Highland Falls.

Beiter pleaded guilty to displaying an unauthorized sign, and was fined $50. He paid.

Beiter said he had seen such tips off to motorists elsewhere, and thought it would be a good thing to do.

He is a resident of Pittsburgh and is currently employed as a civilian surveyor at the U. S. Military Academy at West Point.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 16, 1960

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

This is New York State Chamber of Commerce Week and a good time to take a look at your local Chamber and the general idea behind the organization.

Because of the vital part it plays in the life of the community, the Kingston Area Chamber of Commerce is enthusiastically supported. A recent drive has brought the membership up to 600. However, some citizens have a wrong conception of it or don't understand it at all and there are still many others who should belong who have failed to join.

The local Chamber of Commerce has an important and indispensable part in the business life of the community and in its civic endeavors. Through its cooperation with local institutions and by advertising the natural advantages here and the civic institutions, the local Chamber has helped this city and surrounding area maintain its high standard.

Down through the years public-spirited citizens who loved this community and had faith in it financed and carried out the program of intelligent community effort. Its list of officers and directors from the early days down to and including the present might very well be a civic roll of honor. Its faithful supporters year after year have been those citizens who have a deep regard for this community and a determination to advance its fortunes in every possible way.

If we hope to go forward as a community, we must keep this spirit alive and encourage it in every way. The skeptics who never put their shoulders to the wheel but are always too ready to find fault never did help a community to get anywhere. It is a good thing that these negative characters are in the minority.

In issuing his proclamation in observance of the week, Governor Rockefeller said the Chambers of Commerce of this state have an enviable record of successful effort in helping to bring about an improved business climate conducive to business expansion and to the attraction of new business. Theirs has been an invaluable contribution to the continuing prosperity of the Empire State.

The gasoline tax has been increased two cents a gallon in Alaska. It doesn't take a new state long to catch on.

IN MAGELLAN'S WAKE

The Triton's underwater voyage around the globe was as important, in its way, as some of the more spectacular ventures into space. Traveling submerged for nearly three months was a remarkable achievement, a triumph of technology.

The greatest immediate significance of the voyage is military. The Triton has heavily underscored a point already made by other U.S. atom-powered submarines—that such vessels can remain hidden beneath the sea for weeks or even months, ready to emerge anywhere and (assuming they are fitted with the Polaris) hurl nuclear warheads against targets far inland. Here is a powerful and exceedingly mobile weapon, a potential counterbalance to the mightiest long-range missiles launched from stationary sites.

One should also keep in mind, however, the Triton's importance in efforts to learn more about the still-mysterious depths that cover a great portion of the globe. The submarine's normal complement was augmented by a number of scientists and technicians whose task it was to make the sea yield up more of its secrets. In years to come, such knowledge will be of enormous significance. The sea, as a source of food and for numerous other reasons, is destined to become increasingly important to humanity.

On both counts, military and scientific, the Triton's submerged voyage in the wake of Magellan was a notable success. Let us hope that its promise of greater knowledge about our environment will eventually overshadow its implied threat of far-ranging destruction.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
THE VICE PRESIDENCY

Both parties are going to have more than considerable difficulty selecting a Vice President. Among the Democrats, those who do not favor Senator John Kennedy for President would prefer a Johnson-Kennedy or a Symington-Kennedy ticket depending upon whichever candidate for President is preferred. Mayor Robert F. Wagner of New York and Governor Pat Brown of California are candidates for Vice President in the event that Kennedy is not nominated.

The situation regarding the Vice Presidency in the Democratic Party is fluid and no particular person is favored. What happens will depend upon who is nominated for the Presidency; what part of the country he comes from; whether he is a conservative or a liberal and other considerations.

In the Republican Party, there are those who favor Nelson Rockefeller for Vice President on the assumption that he has a sufficient following to be important. There are some Republicans who believe that a Nixon-Rockefeller ticket could win. On the other hand, there are Republicans who feel that Rockfeller is not a Republican, that he cannot really be associated with either party, but operates entirely on his own. They have observed him as Governor of New York State and are not over-enthusiastic.

The conservative Republicans want Senator Barry Goldwater to be chosen as Vice President and will put up a stiff fight for him. His following is growing because he is a man of sincerity. But it is generally held that Goldwater will not be nominated. First of all, he comes from a small state; secondly, he is a Westerner like Nixon; thirdly, he is too far on the Right for Nixon who cannot altogether cut loose from the Eisenhower Administration of which he has been a part.

It would seem that the one man in the Republican Party who fits the cut for Vice President in 1960 is Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. Coming from a leading New England family, he is a resident of New York. As Nixon comes from California, Lodge fits the requirement for an Easterner for Vice President. He has had a long legislative experience, having served in the Massachusetts General Court, as the state legislature there is called. He has served in the United States Senate. He has been a newspaper reporter and has a good military record.

But his principal service to the country has been as the United States Ambassador to the United Nations and on the Security Council where he proved himself to be an excellent debater and diplomat, giving the Russians a hard time when necessary. He has withstood the attacks on the United States courageously and without compromise. His understanding of Russian techniques is better than most.

The Lodge family was brought up on the experience of governing. Henry Cabot Lodge's grandfather had a long and distinguished career in the United States Senate. His brother, John, was Governor of Connecticut and is now our Ambassador to Spain.

An excellent campaigner and a good mixer, Henry Cabot Lodge could be a valuable addition to Nixon's campaign.

From Barry Goldwater and Henry Cabot Lodge, no names are seriously mentioned for the Vice Presidency on the Republican side. There has been some talk of Senator Kenneth Keating of New York, who is a good speaker and humorist, but he is hardly known to the country.

No one ever runs for the Vice Presidency. Many who are candidates for the Presidency hope that they will be able to settle for second place. The Democratic contest is more lively and exciting than the Republican and therefore there are more prospects for the Vice Presidency. In the Republican Party, one of the major difficulties is that few men are willing to give up governorships or seats in the Senate for banging the gavel in the Senate with a comparatively young President who, according to the averages, is likely to outlive two terms.

On the other hand, several members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet are of Vice Presidential proportions. Fred Seaton, Secretary of the Interior, and James Mitchell, Secretary of Labor, have often been mentioned in this connection. Both are prospects and possibilities, although Mitchell seemed to be in disfavor with Nixon on occasion. Seaton comes from Nebraska, is a newspaper owner and very personable.

This then is the line-up for the second place on both tickets. The choice will be picked, as is customary, by the candidate for President. (Copyright, 1960, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Walking Is One of Life's More Lyric Experiences

By HAROLD T. HYMAN, M.D.

"ONE FOOT, OTHER FOOT"

One foot, other foot,
One foot, other foot,
Now you can go
Wherever you want to go
Here you are in a wonderful world, especially made for you

You taught yourself to walk!
You puzzled it out yourself and now you can walk! wherever you want to go.

One foot out and the other foot out,

Copyright 1947 (unpub.) and 1948 by Richard Rodgers and Oscar Hammerstein II, New York, N. Y. Williamson Music, Inc., publisher and owner of publication and all rights.

In his enchanting book for "Allegro," Oscar Hammerstein II devoted one of his happiest lyrics to the infant's first efforts to walk, as quoted above.

And so it goes for the vast majority of our babies.

But every once in a great while, the little legs just aren't up to it. They crumple like the wall of a deflated balloon. Or they cross stiffly like the blades of a scissor.

Then sometimes they seem able to support the body, but are incapable of getting it into smooth motion.

The youngster remains upright so long as he spreads his feet to establish a broad base. But when he tries to put "one foot out and the other foot out," he falls to one side, waddles or limps.

Now the average time for standing is somewhere between the eighth and tenth months of life. And for walking, somewhere between the tenth and 15th months. Some perfectly normal babies are a bit ahead of schedule. Others fall a little behind.

Wise parents withstand the temptation to hasten their baby's progress so long as the limbs are of normal appearance and move freely. But they are alert to abnormalities that require expert investigation.

Too great a delay in standing and walking may be due to a deficiency of thyroid (cretinism), vitamins A and D (rickets) or C vitamin (scurvy).

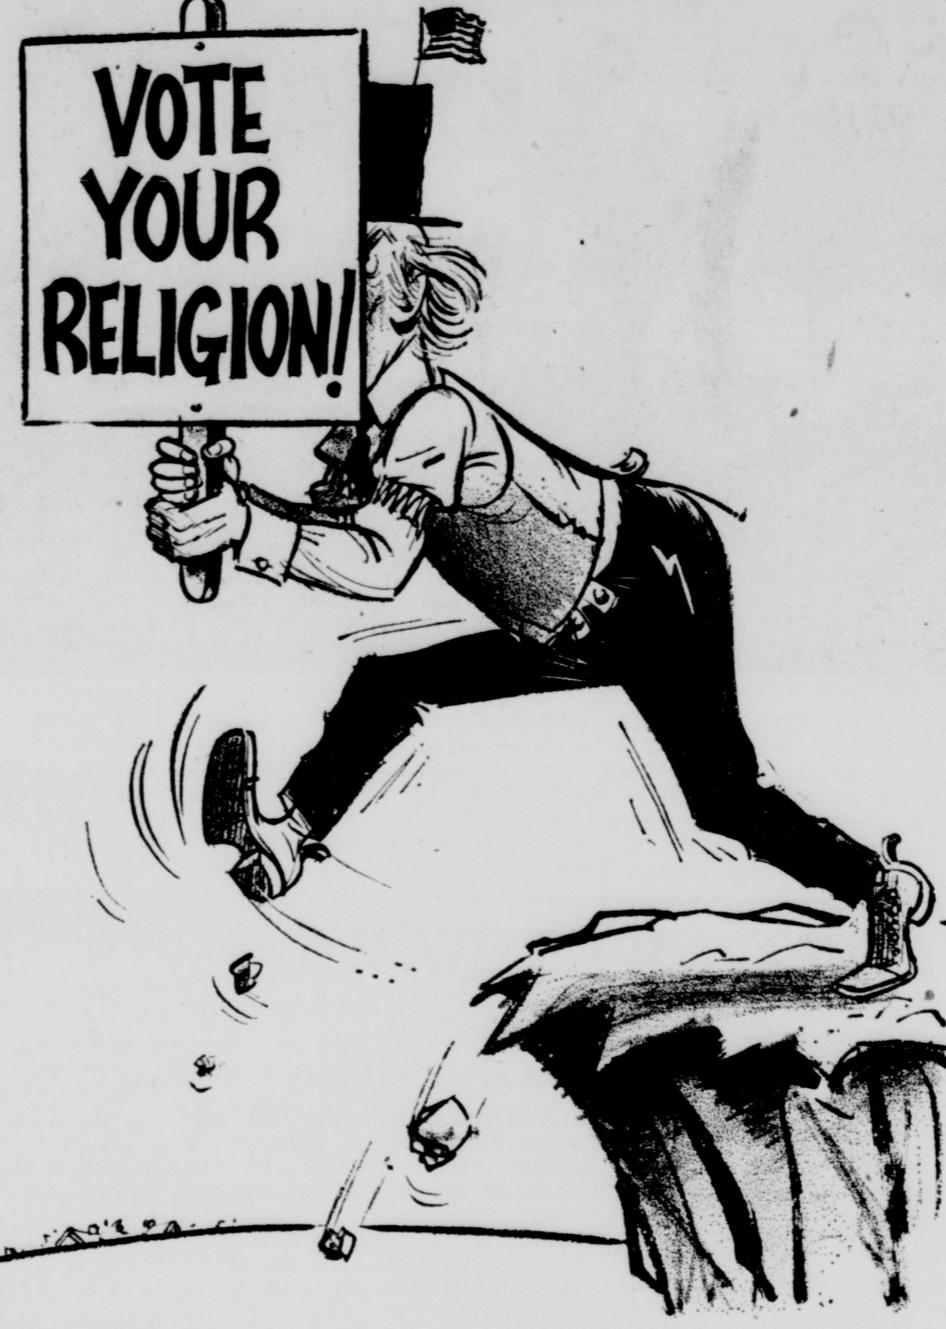

Failure to maintain balance (ataxia) or adoption of the scissor gait may point to serious damage to portions of the nervous system. And a waddling form of locomotion occurs with disturbances of hip joints.

The baby may limp because one leg is shorter than the other. The limp also may be due to a temporary delay in bone growth.

Happily most of these disturbances respond to thoughtful treatment by orthopedic surgeons who specialize in the non-operative and operative techniques of caring for abnormalities of muscles, joints and bones.

Sometimes, all that's needed to prevent crippling is to prevent weight bearing while "nature takes over the miraculous job of healing," to quote from a San Antonio mother who writes me that her 6-year-old now is on the road to recovery.

WASHINGTON — Biggest birthday blowout thrown in these parts for some time was a Sunday afternoon lawn party that drew 400 guests. Host was Rep. Hale Boggs (D-La.) and Mrs. Boggs who threw open their big pillared colonial home and boxwooded grounds in suburban Maryland.

Guests of honor were Rep. Thomas J. O'Brien of Chicago and beautiful Ann Corrck, the radio gal.

Rep. O'Brien admitted he is 82, though his Congressional Record biography doesn't say so. He has been in Congress for 22 years but not consecutively. For 12 years he was sheriff of Cook County.

Miss Corrck exercised her woman's privilege of not mentioning her age—but she doesn't look it. There were two cakes, and it took two Maryland state police to direct traffic.

BETHINE CHURCH, wife of the youthful Idaho Democratic senator, opened a new bank account.

Her checks started bouncing back marked "no such account." Her indignant complaint to the bank brought this apology:

Said Italy's Ambassador Manlio Brosio: "Foreign aid programs are not unilateral. They imply co-operation. Mere co-existence is not enough."

Said Chile's Walter J. Muell-

ler: "Freedom does not mean the same to people with high living standards that it does to people who are poor . . . Let us not turn the cold war into a cold peace."

Minister of Food S. K. Patil of India:

"The contributions which America has made to amelioration of the conditions of poorer nations will be a greater monument than your other achievements in the field of science."

Eric Johnston (who was host with Vannevar Bush):

"Washington is the only city in the world where sound travels faster than light."

ON A RECENT VISIT to Washington and Lee University in Lexington, Va., Rep. Jim Wright (D-Tex.) was startled to see the campus decorated with banners reading "Happy Birthday Ulysses."

When Wright asked why the school over which Gen. Robert E. Lee once presided was honoring a man a rival, Gen. Grant, a student replied:

"For years we have been celebrating Lee's birthday. This year we just figured it would be nice to even things up a bit."

Records show that steel pens were made in England as early as 1780 by a split-ring maker named Samuel Harrison, but it took 40 years for steel pens to come into popularity. In 1830, James Perry took out a patent to make steel pens more flexible.

He cut a center hole and one or more slits in each side of the pen's center split to direct the flow of ink.

Symington Says He Could Defeat Nixon for Office

AUBURN, N.Y. (AP) — Sen. Stuart Symington thinks he can beat Vice President Richard M. Nixon for the presidency but ponders questions on whether he can win the Democratic presidential nomination.

Symington, in a news conference prior to a speech Sunday, told a newsmen who asked whether the Missouri senator thought he could win the nomination from Sen. John F. Kennedy of Massachusetts:

"I don't like to talk about my colleagues, but I think I can beat Nixon for the presidency."

Nixon is the only announced candidate for the Republican nomination.

Asked whether he would accept the vice presidential nomination, Symington replied that he would prefer to remain a senator because "vice presidents can't talk."

In his speech, before a crowd estimated at 850, Symington said Democrats would "get our country off center, and lead our people in the great works of construction that are our best hope for the future."

Democrats, he said, "are willing to invest in America because we know America will repay a generous dividend, a fuller and more secure life. In this belief we are not alone. An army of Republicans and independents stand with us."

Symington had cancelled an airport news conference at Rochester Sunday night because of the death of his mother-in-law, Mrs. Jackson H. Boyd. He also had been scheduled to meet with Democratic national convention delegates and alternates in the Rochester area.

At Bear Mountain Saturday, Symington told a Rockland County Democratic dinner that the Democrats must adopt a bold, courageous and progressive platform at their convention.

"I am going to the Democratic convention," he said, "in the hope of being nominated for president but that's not the only reason."

"During the course of the convention, we are going to hammer out a platform to guide our great party during the next four years, and I intend to do all I can to see that this platform reflects and implements the progressive, humanitarian ideals of the Democratic party."

This platform, he said, should dedicate the party to the pursuit of peace and disarmament.

Demands Explanation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has fired a delayed-action diplomatic salvo at Cuba for what it calls an unprovoked high seas attack on an American submarine.

The State Department demanded an explanation of the incident. It strongly disputed accusations by Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro that the United States has aggressive designs against Cuba.

Stratton and Lindsay Polls Favoring Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two New York congressmen — one a New York City Republican and the other an Upstate Democrat — today reported almost identical sentiment among their constituents for Vice President Richard M. Nixon's presidential candidacy.

Rep. Samuel S. Stratton (D) said a poll of voters in his district showed 39.9 per cent favored Nixon for the presidency. Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.), the front-running Democrat, was a close second with 33.4 per cent. Rep. John V. Lindsay (R) said a poll he took in his Manhattan district showed 39 per cent of the 14,000 persons who replied favored Nixon for president. Kennedy ran fourth at 7 per cent, Lindsay said.

Judge Stock On Merits—Not Where It's Listed

Q) "Would you please tell me the difference between an 'over-the-counter' and an 'exchange' stock?" A. S.

A) Your question come up very frequently, and I'm glad to have a chance to answer it. The major difference between these two types of stock lies in the method of trading. Over-the-counter, or unlisted stocks, are bought and sold as a result of private negotiations between dealers. The latter sometimes act as agents and sometimes as principals. As agents they report to you on your statement, the price at which they have bought or sold a security and the commission they have charged for doing so. If they act as principals, they report to you only the price at which the deal has been consummated, and that price includes their own profit. Exchange, or listed stocks are traded by public auction between brokers on the floor of the different exchanges. These trades are always made on an agency basis with commission shown. Although many investors don't realize it, there is a spread between bid and asked prices on the exchanges as well as those you see quoted on over-the-counter stocks. This spread is usually, although not always, narrower in the case of listed issues. Again, there is generally (though by no means always) more information given out on listed stocks because the exchanges require it. May I offer a suggestion? Make your decision as to the purchase of any stock only when the entire situation is judged on its own merits. If you pick the right stocks, the market in which they are traded is of secondary importance.

State May Name

staying away from the convention, Rockefeller actually remained a potential presidential nominee. Candidates traditionally do not attend the convention.

Of Nixon, Morhouse said New York Republicans "shall welcome the Vice President on his visit this week." Nixon is scheduled to be in Auburn Tuesday and Buffalo Wednesday.

"Both then and thereafter," Morhouse said, "we shall do all we can to assist him in his presentation before the people of New York State of his personality, his abilities and—most importantly—his specific views on national issues."

Won't Meet Nixon

Rockefeller will not meet the Vice President however. The governor has cancelled all public appearances through Thursday because of the death of his father, John D. Rockefeller Jr.

Morhouse said the state delegation would decide on its position after the state committee selected delegates and alternates June 14. But the chairman said he would recommend that the delegation "go to the convention uncommitted, there to make its decision."

In talking about making a decision at the convention, Morhouse indicated he believed there might be more than one candidate. "Unless our national ticket this fall is headed by a candidate capable of the appeal that thrills across and beyond Republican party lines, we stand in serious danger of losing not only the presidency but also the State Legislature and many of our local offices," he said.

Rockefeller demonstrated such appeal in 1958 when he was elected governor by an overwhelming majority and drew support from traditionally Democratic New York City, the chairman said.

Morhouse, one of the chief engineers of Rockefeller's campaign for the gubernatorial nomination, said "our party's national, state and local destiny and—much more importantly—our country's destiny, will be affected" by its presidential choice.

Certainly, it is part of wisdom to make this choice on the basis of all evidence and guidance we can gain from the fast-unfolding future and from our own thoughtful deliberations," he said.

Investor Forum
 Harry C. France

THE LOOK AHEAD
 Secretary of the Treasury Anderson, in a recent talk before an audience of leading industrialists and top banking executives in New York City predicted that in the decade ahead America's gross national product would increase by about 50 per cent.

When common stock prices are falling and millions of hesitant investors with money in hand are wondering whether to buy or not, it is such a statement as Mr. Anderson's that will give investors courage to buy.

National income is now about $400,000,000 yearly. An increase here in the decade ahead of 50 per cent would put it up to $600,000,000. If this prediction should prove to be even partially true, then today long-pull investors should buy good common stocks selling to yield from four to five per cent yearly.

An examination of the sales record of representative American corporations during the 1949-1959 decade should be helpful. For this reason, I shall give the figures for four world-leading enterprises: General Motors, General Electric, Standard Oil of New Jersey and DuPont.

In 1949, General Motors sold $5,700,000,000 of its products. Last year the volume was $11,233,000,000. The ten-year increase was almost 100 per cent. If, during 1960-1970, this increase should total 550 per cent, the corporation will be doing about 17 billions a year.

General Motors is presently selling at around $44 a share. It pays $2.00 a share a year. The current yield is about 4½ per cent. For long-pull investors it is a purchase.

In 1949, General Electric did a business of $1,600,000,000. In 1959 it hit $4,300,000,000 for a gain of more than 100 per cent. By 1970 the volume should touch seven billions a year. By that time there probably will be favorable changes in the capital structure and higher dividends.

In 1949 Standard Oil of New Jersey sold $2,890,000,000 of its products. Last year, sales totaled $7,900,000,000. By 1970, volume will be through ten billions a year. This good stock, now about $42 a share and yielding 5 per cent currently, is a prime purchase for conservative long-pull investment.

DuPont, the chemical leader of the world, did a business of $1,030,000,000 in 1949. In 1959, it had more than doubled at $2,100,000,000. Growth is automatic with this company. DuPont also owns 63,000,000 shares of General Motors and naturally the GM dividends vitally affect the price of DuPont.

As this is written, DuPont is selling at $200 a share. In 1959 the shares paid $7.00 each in dividends. The stock is a purchase for long-pull investors looking for growth and a fair income.

These four blue-chip equities point the way to millions of potential investors who look ahead confidently ten, 20, 30 years. There are a hundred other blue chips that should be bought now by those who are not too price conscious.

Always remember, in the decade ahead economic America will grow and this prosperity will be shared by buyers of common stocks.

To all readers: I answer personally all letters from readers of this column who enclose a self-addressed stamped envelope. I get unsigned letters and communications without addresses.

By the Kingston City Library Staff

We've been asked how the Kingston City Library gets its information about new books long before these books are reviewed in the book review magazines.

Fortunately for us, certain library magazines are issued which describe forthcoming books that are to be published in the next two months. Some of these magazines, as "Book Buyers Guide," list only title and author of these new books.

Other magazines, as "Publisher's Weekly" and "The Library Journal," have reviews of their own. Using these book selection aids, a library is able to have advance information so that new books can appear on the library shelves by the time they are reviewed in the New York Times or the "Saturday Review."

In 1960, the Kingston City Library will purchase approximately 500 new adult books and 400 new children's books. This is from the more than 15,000 new books to be published this year by over 400 American publishers. Which makes for a lot of reading of book reviews before final selections are made!

Recently we've been asked: How to repair a 1939 Ford . . . Where to find a picture of a woman's headdress as worn by ancient Egyptian women . . . Wild flowers in New York State that are protected by law . . . A diagrammatic description of an iodine-potassium indicator for detecting carbon monoxide gas . . . Schools teaching courses in crop dusting.

Overhead in the children's room: Requests for books about Wild Bill "Hiccup" and "Custard's" Last Stand . . . Request for books on how to make musical instruments . . . Easy book on Albert Schweitzer . . . Commented one nine-year-old referring to some smaller children browsing through the Picture Book Section: "I'll just bet you have a lot of cute little rascals coming in here!"

The new books recently added to our public library collection: PEOPLE; "Hollywood Rajah;" Crother; "Night They Burned the Mountain;" Dooley; "Edwin Forrest;" Moody.

PLACES: "Death of Africa;" Ritter; "New Guide to Mexico;" Toot.

FICTION: "Cunning of the Dove;" Duggan; "Blindfold;" Fletcher; "Uncle Paul;" Fremlin; "A Distant Trumpet;" Horgan; "Goodbye, Columbus;" Roth; "Loneliness of the Long-Distance Runner;" Sillito.

SCIENCE AND HEALTH: "Fallout, A Preview of Nuclear War;" Fowler; "Complete Child Care;" Kugelmass; "A Beginner's Guide to the Skies;" Newton; "Viduss Hunters;" Williams.

CHILDREN'S BOOKS: "Anthology of Children's Literature," Arbutnott; "Golden Anniversary Book About Scouting;" Beuchza; "New York City, Old and New;" Emerson; "One God, the Ways We Worship Him;" Fitch; "Soft Ball Rules in Pictures;" Jacobs; "The Gammage Cup;" Kendall; "Onion John;" Krumgold; "Going For a Walk With a Line;" MacAgy; "Adventures in Electrochemistry;" Morgan; "Easy Games For Youngsters;" Settle; "Far Frontier;" Steele; "Oars, Sails, and Steam;" Tunis; "All About Archaeology;" White.

Priest Dies at 75

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y. (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Msgr. James R. McClure, pastor emeritus of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church, died at his home Sunday. Msgr. McClure, 75, had retired two years ago because of ill health.

He served in the Ogdensburg Diocese of Northern New York throughout his career. He was assigned to churches at Churubusco, Hogansburg and Chateaugay before St. Bernard's.

MODENA NEWS

MODENA—Wesleyan Service Guild met Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Florence Hyatt at Clintondale. Mrs. Evelyn Abbott was in charge of the program study on women of the Bible.

Others present were Mrs. Jean Crites of Irelands Corners; Mrs. Eileen Riley of Ardonia; Mrs. Alice Lofink, Mrs. Muriel Ward of Modena.

The annual election of officers scheduled to be held at this meeting was postponed owing to the lack of attendance.

The next meeting of the Guild is planned for Tuesday evening, June 14, at the home of Mrs. Crites, Irelands Corners. Mrs. Ward will be in charge of the program, continuing the study of women of the Bible.

A son, born recently to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert A. Winters Jr., has been named Herbert LeRoy, after both grandfathers—Herbert A. Winters Sr., and LeRoy Gruman.

Methodist Youth Fellowship members of Sub-district No. 5 including Modena, made a field trip to New York recently.

Mrs. Lester A. Wager Jr., and children visited Mrs. Carolyn Raad and Mrs. Anthony Baranski at Wallkill last Sunday.

William Doolittle, recently made a trip by jet plane to El Paso, Texas, to visit his daughter, Mrs. Frank Keeser and family. About 21 miles east of El Paso, Mr. Doolittle visited the Hueco Tanks, a huge rock formation pushed in the desert by the second glacier appearing to be fifty feet high and approximately a mile long. They were used by the Indians as a natural shelter, the formation being in the shape of a horseshoe with one side open. In between the formation is about a thousand acres of desert, containing the only water hole in that area.

Boys, 7, Takes Ride

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP)—Police say a seven-year-old boy spotted a car parked in a service station, its keys in the ignition.

The boy, unidentified, decided to take a ride.

He drove the car 11 blocks without incident and quit only when he drove into a dead-end street. He didn't know how to turn the car around.

Makes Safe Landing

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A Braniff International Airways plane with 32 passengers and five crew members landed safely with a blown-out tire Sunday.

Pilot R. W. Shields, 55, said the tire blew as the four-engine DC-8 took off for a flight to New Orleans.

Shields made five low passes over the Kansas City airport so mechanics on the ground could make sure the remaining tire on the dual wheels of the right landing gear was all right.

Then he landed the plane gently and stopped it within 2,000 feet by reversing the propellers.

Modena Child Clinic

A child health conference, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department will be held at Hasbrouck Hall, Modena on Tuesday, May 24, from 1 to 3 p.m. These clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children for the purpose of improving child health through early recognition of defects, advice regarding nutrition, instruction of parents in understanding of growth and development, handling of minor behavior difficulties and the administering of immunizations for smallpox, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough and polio.

LOST ART

When the Art Z. Craftys moved into a house with a workable Colonial fireplace, they decided to store their automatic electric range, and save money by cooking as their forefathers did.

ACTUALLY, their "savings" won't even pay for firewood, to say nothing of the drudgery involved. $3.00 spent on electricity cooks three big family meals every day for a whole month . . . just one more reason why the average family is using twice as much electricity today as in 1947.

Catholic Issue Is Still Factor Newsman States

The Catholic issue in the 1960 presidential campaign is far from buried despite Sen. John Kennedy's smashing victory over Sen. Hubert Humphrey in the West Virginia primary. Edward J. O'Neill, New York Daily News political columnist and prominent Catholic layman, told more than 100 persons at the annual Communion Breakfast of St. John's Parish of West Hurley and Woodstock, Sunday at the Gov. Clinton Hotel.

Commenting on world Catholicism, O'Neill said that Pope John's policies to date indicated he would go down in history as the most liberal pope the church has ever had.

Deplores Cynicism

Asserting that we must all share the guilt of our political ills, O'Neill urged his listeners to take part in political activity. "Take time out to become interested in the local, county, state and national issues. Join and become active in the party of your choice," he implored.

A wave of national cynicism and materialism points up the urgent need for enlightened political activity, he went on. He deplored the prevailing climate of "complete contempt" for politics and politicians.

"All too many of us are looking down our noses at politics and the politicians. And the tragedy is that these are the men who will make the decisions fixing the destinies of our children in the future," said O'Neill.

O'Neill, a lay trustee of Iona College, is developing his subject, "Politics and Catholicism in 1960," charged that the nation's intellectuals are deserting the one field where they are needed the most, that of political endeavor.

Comparing what he called "the shame of 1928 with 1960," the speaker said there has been long standing wrong impression about the factors involved in Alfred E. Smith's defeat. Smith was the Catholic candidate ever to run for president.

by his parents to New York in 1901 and grew up on the streets of the Lower East Side, where he developed an early interest in the theatre. Although identified mainly with the Yiddish Art Theatre, which he founded in 1918, and which was a Mecca for Jewish theatregoers on New York's Lower East Side until it was disbanded in 1950, Mr. Schwartz was a frequent performer in Yiddish theatres throughout the world.

We need the best brains available to lead our country, to guide us to our destination," he said. "The United States can't afford to be second rate. To be first rate is a necessity for us. Because of the current apathy, disinterest and slander and hostility to politicians, we are getting the second best in leadership and we can't afford second best for one second."

The speaking program opened with brief remarks by Edward Dunn and Mrs. John Frangello, co-chairman of arrangements. Ms. Daniel Fochi, president of the Rosary Altar Society, made the welcoming speech.

Attorney Joseph Campbell was the toastmaster and introduced several prominent guests. Rev. Jeremiah F. Nemecsek, pastor of St. John's Parish, spoke briefly following O'Neill's speech and complemented his suggestion that members of the parish take a more active part in political activity.

Mrs. Maurice Martin was chairman of the ticket committee and Mrs. Robert Finkle handled the publicity arrangements.

Jaycees Again Will Operate Info Center

Operation of the Woodstock Information Center again this year by the Woodstock Jaycees has been announced by Robert Carr, president of the organization. Opening date for the center is scheduled Saturday, May 28, with operation slated each weekend until June 18.

Commencing that date, the center will be open seven days a week for the balance of the summer. Mrs. Ethel Adams, who has done such a splendid job in recent years, will again act as center hostess. Robert L. Lindsay has been appointed chairman of the Jaycee committee in charge of the center operation.

The Woodstock Information Center is located at the intersection of Route 375 and 212 in the village of Woodstock. Its operation is solely a project by the Jaycees in the public interest and its support comes from local business concerns and civic-minded citizens. In addition to the operation of its booth during the summer months, the center continues its activities throughout the balance of the year in the form of letters in response to mail inquiries about the Woodstock area, local facilities and businesses and other tourist or visitor questions.

Funds Needed

Plans are underway for raising the necessary funds to operate the center. All business in the area will be asked to contribute to the support of the project. Any individuals who wish to help in this service may do so by sending their contributions, payable to the Woodstock Information Center, to Robert L. Lindsay, Woodstock.

Anyone having information concerning rooms to rent, auctions, special events, recreational activities, brochures, etc., is asked to see Mrs. Adams at the center booth or to forward that information to her.

Yiddish Theatre Star Was Uncle To Mrs. Shulman

The death of the celebrated Maurice Schwartz, the leading figure of the Yiddish Theatre in Jerusalem on May 10, was brought closer to home with the information that he was an uncle of Mrs. Anita Shulman of Chichester, tax collector for the Onteora Central School District.

The body of the 69-year-old giant of his medium was flown to New York on Sunday. Mr. Schwartz suffered a heart attack a month ago in Tel Aviv while preparing a production of "Kiddush Hashem" by Sholem Asch and had had seven attacks since then.

Mrs. Shulman, wife of Irving Shulman, who operates Shulman's Washette on Main Street in Phoenicia, appeared with her uncle in some of his plays as a teenager and he helped train her for a professional stage and singing career.

Mr. Schwartz's adopted daughter, Rita Schwartz, is appearing on Broadway in the only female role in Paddy Chayevsky's "The Tenth Man." She was the 5-year-old daughter of a Belgian couple killed by the Nazis. He adopted her in 1947, sight unseen, along with her older brother. Later she appeared with him in 20 plays before attaining stardom in her own right in "The Tenth Man."

Mr. Schwartz was born in 1890, the son of Isaac and Rose Bernholz Schwartz. He was brought to the Russian Ukraine in 1890, the son of Isaac and Rose Bernholz Schwartz. He was brought

Hold Saugerties Man For Stabbing Sister

A 22-year-old Town of Saugerties man was arrested early Sunday morning after he allegedly stabbed his teenage sister in the left arm.

Donald P. Fogarty of Saugerties allegedly attempted to stab his sister Rita, 15, in the stomach with a kitchen knife during a violent quarrel at their home just south of Palenville near the Greene-Ulster line. The knife struck her in the left arm.

The assault reportedly occurred about 11 p. m. Saturday.

Fogarty was arrested by Town of Saugerties Constable John Pavlak on a charge of assault second degree. Rita was treated at the police station by Dr. R. B. Wenger of Saugerties.

Fogarty was arraigned early Sunday morning before Town Police Justice Ernest E. Schirmer of Saugerties and was committed to Ulster County Jail to await action of the grand jury.

Rockefeller Jr. Buried

TARRYTOWN, N. Y. (AP)—Services were held Sunday for John D. Rockefeller Jr.

His ashes were buried in the Rockefeller family plot in Sleepy Hollow Cemetery. Rockefeller was cremated in Tucson, Ariz., shortly after he died in a hospital there Wednesday at the age of 86.

The cemetery gates were closed to all except the immediate family.

H. L. Mencken described a historian as "an unsuccessful novelist."

THE RUSSIAN VERSION—Pictured above are the "noiseless" pistol and poisoned pin which the Russians claim were found on Francis Gary Powers, 30, of Jenkins, Ky., the pilot shot down by a Russian rocket near Sverdlovsk on May Day. The pin which is about three inches long was supposed to be used by Powers to commit suicide if he faced capture, the Reds say.

Do You Remember by Sophie Miller

In case anyone wants to see what a Japanese cherry tree looks like without going down to Washington, D. C., there is a big one in Mrs. Ada Walker's yard at Highland. I understand, according to the Highland Mid-Hudson Post, the tree bloomed on Sunday, April 24, with large well formed blossoms.

Lorin E. Osterhoudt, in his column called "Rumbling From Bellevue," mentions Kingston Point Park, as one of the most popular resorts along the river. His words in the above paper read in part . . . "too bad Kingston Point Park cannot be revived. Maybe if more people got stirring it up, we might get somewhere. Remember, the Voice of the Pen is mightier than the sword."

In the April 14 issue of Mr. Osterhoudt's column there is more about our Kingston Point Park. He speaks of the "little island out in the lake where the band stand was located. And, then once in while a vocalist would appear and hold forth in song. Then there was the merry go round." He tells about the pavilion with Derrenbach's ice cream and great big ice cream sodas. Then the sail on the boat, sometimes in the moonlight.

Not only did Kingstons enjoy Kingston Point Park, but from Mr. Osterhoudt's column one realizes what our park meant to the folks up and down the river. He tells about an item he found in the Old Southern Ulster, dated July 20, 1900, which describes the outing of the Poughkeepsie Methodist Church to Kingston Point. They had a crowd of some 500 . . . "a fine place, close to home for a day's outing." That was our Kingston Point Park.

Going back to April 11, 1888, according to our Kingston Argus, the West Shore railroad was running excursions to Barnum's shows, at Madison Square Garden, New York City. Excursion tickets, including a first class reserved seat, was only $2.25 from Kingston. It was good on excursion trains from Saturday to Monday.

The following about the famous D & H Canal of the above date. "The hundred boats withdrawn from the Delaware and Hudson Canal, two years ago, will be put on again and given to the men who had them before, if they desire them. Water was let into the canal at Honesdale, Saturday, and the loading of boats commenced on Monday. There are 372,300 tons of coal on the Honesdale docks awaiting the opening of the navigation. The D & H Canal Co., had mined 1,141,403 tons of coal in 1888 which is a gain of 123,234 tons, as compared with the same date of 1887."

This from Alligerville of above date "Our school is considerably diminished by the opening of the canal and beginning of the work at the mountain houses." It is difficult to imagine that there was a time when children were allowed to use their abundant energy for useful labor as well as study.

Another item from this same paper from Accord, "Miss Kate Westbrook, one of our most highly accomplished young ladies, has just returned from an extended Southern trip." I remember a Miss Kate Westbrook as custodian at the Senate House.

Item from Eddyville reads in part, "Canal horses and mules could be seen coming from their winter quarters every day last week through this place."

Mad About Meteorites

Atlanta, Ill. (AP) — John White's interest in meteorites is more than mere curiosity.

The 52-year-old television reporter was standing in his yard when he heard a whiz, then felt a thud on his head.

A pebble-like meteorite was burning a hole in his cap and had cut his head.

Now White clings to the lima bean-sized meteorite as proof and studies meteorites as a hobby.

Today's Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Taxes may be as sure as death but in today's complex society their exact impact is far from certain. It's getting hard even to add them up—so many taxes are hidden or indirect—and harder to tell if the total burden is bearing with anything approaching fairness on the majority of citizens.

Those whose incomes are chiefly from paychecks—with tax withholding at the source—often feel they are paying more than their share of the cost of government. They point with envy to other groups: Those able to get a large part of their income from capital gains, taxed at a lower rate, and those with a large part of their incomes from tax-exempt securities.

Question Others

And increasingly the all-pavement boys question corporate practices that allow top executives to get much of their income from capital gains through such devices as options to buy stocks, or to defer payments until after retirement, often at lower bracket rates. The expense account, and its many variations, as a substitute for part of a man's pay is also under fire at this time.

The general tax burden also is to the fore as total levies continue to mount—some 79 billion dollars to the federal government, about 46 billion dollars to state and local governments.

But to the statistician the question of fairness of the burden is reduced to the percentage of tax payments by various income groups, although difficulties of arriving at accurate averages seem to mount.

The Tax Foundation has taken a stab at it. The finding isn't pleasant. Most families pay out one-fourth of their income to the various tax collectors. Those making less than $2,000 a year pay out a bit more than that. Those making more than $15,000 are nickel for more than a third.

Difficult to Decide

The research group admits it's hard to decide who finally pays some taxes. Example: The corporation income tax. Is it ultimately the consumer in higher prices, the stockholder in lower dividends, or the employee in slimmer wages than he might otherwise claim?

It's also often hard to tell just what a family's income is. The paycheck is tangible. But there are many benefits that are less easy to tabulate and assign to various income groups.

But by accepting some generally used definitions of income and tax incidence, the foundation has decided that the people who pay about 70 per cent of the total tax bill—federal, state and local—are those with incomes in the 2 to 15 thousand dollar a year range. Everything considered, they are taxed at near the same rate—26 per cent for those making the least in that range and 24 per cent for those in the $10,000-$15,000 class.

This leveling off is due to a number of things. While income taxes are graduated to the amount of intake, other levies (property, sales, etc.) fall with varying impacts on different groups. The sales tax, for example, normally takes a higher percentage of the income of those in the lower brackets. The grand total, therefore, doesn't always conform to the maxim of "those most able to pay."

MONEY

Does it seem to slip through your fingers? Make you wonder if prices must skyrocket? Many others wonder too. Just recently 64 of them—all leading representatives of labor, education, business and government—got together at the American Assembly. They considered the evidence and came away convinced that America can experience dynamic growth while keeping prices reasonably stable and unemployment low. How? By a serious effort on the part of all Americans to create a steady rise in productivity.

What can you do to help? Find out by writing today for the free booklet, "Prices, Growth and You," to: American Assembly, Columbia University, New York 27, N.Y.

cars love SHELL

Why do so many of the liveliest cars on the road use Super Shell with TCP? One clue is that Shell is America's largest supplier of commercial aviation fuels (we have been for 10 years). And many of Shell's aviation developments have been carried over into Shell gasolines. TCP* additive is just one of these developments. TCP in Super Shell neutralizes the combustion deposits which make engines run rough. Why not discover how smooth your car can run—how far you can go on a gallon? Your Shell dealer is the man to see.

Soviets Protest High-Level Plane Over E. Germany

LONDON (AP)—The Soviet Union protested in notes published today that an unidentified high-level plane flying in from West Germany violated the air space of Communist East Germany on May 5.

The notes to the commanders of the U.S., British and French forces in West Germany claimed that the plane crossed the East German frontier 10 miles southwest of Bozenburg at a height of about 5,500 feet and flew for 56 miles into East German territory.

The notes suggested Soviet fighters could have shot the plane down but that the Soviets "considered it possible on this occasion to refrain therefrom."

The notes were sent Sunday by the Soviet commander in East Germany, Gen. I. I. Yakubovsky.

The Soviet news agency Tass made them public.

The incident came four days after the Soviets shot down an American U2 reconnaissance aircraft 1,400 miles inside the Soviet Union.

Yakubovsky said Soviet patrol fighters gave the trespasser over East Germany "frequent recognized signals to land."

"However, the violating aircraft did not comply with these demands, but returned to Western Germany," he reported.

The Soviet commander demanded that the Western Allies take the necessary measures to prevent the use of West German territory for violation of the East German frontier. He warned that if any more planes trespass, "the Soviet command will be forced to adopt the most stringent measures for the curbing of such violations."

8.000 Fight in Streets After Menderes Talk

IZMIR, Turkey (AP) — About 8,000 opponents and supporters of Premier Adnan Menderes skirmished for nearly an hour in the streets of Izmir Sunday just after he promised to hold national elections.

About 4,000 youths shouting "Menderes resign" clashed with about the same number of supporters of the 61-year-old Premier.

Police and troops dispersed the mob without serious casualties, but tension continued high.

Menderes arrived in Izmir on a tour of western Turkey to test local sentiment toward his sharp repression of the opposition People's Republican party.

In an arrival speech he promised election of a new parliament if the nation stays calm. It was his first public mention of voting since the student riots in Istanbul and Ankara April 28-29. He indicated no election date, but under the constitution he must call a vote by the spring of 1961.

A message from Valleyfield, Quebec to the U.S.A.

Announcing New York's first shipment of older Imported O.F.C.

(Now 8 and 12 years old; the 8 is two years older than other Canadians yet costs no more.
Our 12 is the oldest, finest imported Canadian whisky.)

8 and 12 year old imported Canadian whiskies are unique in New York, but here in Canada we've been drinking older O.F.C. for years.

We can't help feeling therefore, that you'll appreciate these older O.F.C. whiskies quite as much as we Canadians. And that once you taste them you won't settle for anything less.

The bottles you see on this page contain the very oldest and the very finest whiskies made in Canada. We've been distilling these ancient whiskies here in Valleyfield, Quebec for some time. But we held off sending them to New York because we didn't have enough till now to supply you and our provinces as well. Happily, there is now enough.

At 8 years old, Imported O.F.C. is two years older than any imported Canadian whisky you've probably ever had. And the nice part is that you can enjoy this extra age at the same price others ask for six. ($6.40 the fifth.)

As for the other bottle . . .

Imported 12 year old O.F.C. (an international gift whisky) is what fills that handsome teardrop bottle you see here. It's by far the oldest Canadian whisky made by us or anyone else, and it does cost somewhat more. But then the taste is definitely worth the difference. ($8.60 the fifth.)

As a final touch, both our 8 and 12 year old O.F.C. are the only imported Canadian whiskies individually tissue-wrapped and boxed the year round.

A path to our door

Now that we are sending you what we believe is the finest, and know is the oldest imported Canadian whisky you can buy (no one else here makes 12 year old for export and hardly anyone makes 8 year old), we hope to gain many new American friends.

As a gesture of friendship then (assuming you feel so inclined after tasting our whisky) won't you drop us a line here in the Venice of Quebec? If you don't fancy yourself much of a letter writer, merely scribble "Tradition go hang!" or "Keep it up!" on a postal card. A little encouragement goes a long way when you're waiting as many years as we do for your whisky to reach its prime.

Says Economic Growth To Help Ike at Summit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Hugh Scott (R-Pa.) said today the nation's economic growth provides President Eisenhower with what he called "a secret weapon" for the summit conference opening in Paris.

Scott referred to the fact that the gross national product, the total of all goods and services, reached an annual rate of $500,000,000 for the first quarter of this year.

He said this was secret only in the sense that announcement of it last week had been obscured by recent explosive international developments.

He said in a prepared Senate speech that it was a weapon in the sense "that it helps our people to wage peace as it would help our nation to wage war."

Never before in history, said Scott, has a gross national product of half a trillion dollars been approached by any country. "No other nation has achieved even half this level," he said.

The Kingston High School Class of 1940 Reunion Planning Group met at the home of Mrs. Doris Pine Schoonmaker, Valley Gardens, Accord on Friday evening to note the progress of the group so far. John Ennis, co-chairman, presided.

Chester Petri, reservation chairman, reported splendid returns for reservations from various members for the reunion dinner-dance which will be held on the night of June 11 at the Gov. Clinton Hotel. He urged all members that reservations are due and must be registered with him to further the arrangements now being made for the coming reunion weekend. Petri noted that many former classmates from out of town had already sent reservations and seemed anxious for the coming get-together. Reservations are from states as far away as Ohio and Illinois.

Carolyn Newkirk, co-chairman of the group, reported that only 10 former classmates out of a total of 414 were unable to be located, and one by one that number was being lowered.

Ruth Saxe Maines, together with Harry Flowers and Fred Supplies, working as a booster committee, reported favorable returns and enthusiasm.

Jules Viglielmo, who will be Master of Ceremonies at the reunion dinner-dance, made known plans for the entertainment hour following the dinner. Evelyn Larion Corsones and Viglielmo are assembling copy for the program.

Winifred Davis Fallon, reunion chairman, in answer to many inquiries, made it known that class members may bring guests providing the reservations for those guests are made on the class members' reservation card.

SHOWING THEM WILL BE WELCOME

Dear Mrs. Post: Last week a friend called and asked me if we were going to be home that coming Sunday as they were thinking of driving out to see us. I said that I was sorry but we had another engagement and would not be at home. My husband thinks it is now up to me to call and invite them for a definite day. I do not think that this is at all necessary. He claims that if I don't call they will get the impression that we do not want them to come and that the next move is definitely up to me. Is it my place to call and invite them to come to see us?

Answer: If when you said you would not be at home that Sunday you added, "but do come next week," or even "some other Sunday" you need do nothing more; but if you didn't and you wish to see these friends, you should now invite them for some definite day.

Wearing Furs in Hot Weather

Dear Mrs. Post: My husband and I plan to attend a silver reunion of my high-school class the early part of June. I am going to wear a cocktail dress. I would like to know if it would be proper to wear a mink stole over my dress at that time of year. I have been told that furs are not properly worn in June and that I will give the impression that I am trying to "show off" if I wear it.

Answer: You will almost certainly be criticized if you wear your mink stole on a hot June day. If the day should happen to be chilly, you may quite properly wear it.

Turning on Hostess' Television

SOT

Dear Mrs. Post: When spending the weekend, or longer, as a guest in someone's house, is the guest privileged to turn on the television set any time she wishes, or must she ask permission of the hostess before doing so?

Answer: Unless the hostess has told her that she may turn on the television whenever she wishes, she must ask for permission before doing so.

Mrs. Post offers readers leaflets on a variety of subjects concerning etiquette. If you would like to have her leaflet E-25, entitled, "Menus for All Occasions," send 10 cents in coin to Dept. E.P., care of The Freeman, P. O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail.

KHS Choir Gives Fine Performances Friday and Saturday

The Kingston High School Choir, under the direction of Leonard Stine, filled the high school auditorium with beautiful blending of young voices at their annual concert, held Friday and Saturday evenings, May 13 and 14.

The many hours of rehearsal have developed this group into 100-voice instrument of superb tonal quality. The opening choruses "O Vos Omnes" by Vittoria, and "Ave Maria" by Brucker were sung in fine ecclesiastical style. There was a hushed, haunting quality in Hoist's "To the Unknown God." The first group ended with "Gloria in Excelsis" by Gounod, in which fine trio singing was done by Mary Holbrook, soprano; Wallace Fullford, tenor; and Richard Duffy, bass.

A group of two duets followed. The ever-popular "Will You Remember" by Romberg was sung by Jean Wells, soprano and Walter Daw, tenor. Next, Barbara Withall, soprano and Michael Schwartz, tenor, sang a fine duet arrangement of "Ah, Love. But a Day" by Beach. These young people sang with poise and good balance of tone.

The group of negro spirituals was enthusiastically received by the audience. Walter Daw, tenor, soloed in "There Is a Balm in Gilead," and special mention should be made of the soprano section which sparkled in "In-A-That Great Gittin' Up Mo'nin'" and "Ride the Chariot."

Schubert's "Serenade" was sung by Linda Trowbridge, soprano, and Carl Marke, bass, and the final duet was a beautiful arrangement of "Pale Moon" by Logan, which was sensitively sung by Alma Strickland, soprano, and Katherine Brumner, contralto.

William Dunn did fine work as accompanist for this part of the program.

The final group was accompanied by Robert Brown, and included the gay polka from "The Bartered Bride" by Smetana, a lovely arrangement of "Anne Laurie" by O'Hara, and selections from "Carousel" by Rodgers, which concluded the program on a happy note.

Will Talk About New Quarters for Mental Clinics

A meeting is scheduled Wednesday to discuss obtaining new quarters for the Ulster County Mental Health Center. At 12:30 p.m. the Ulster County Community Mental Health Board will talk with representatives of the Board of Supervisors in the library of the City Laboratory. Dr. Edward F. Shea, chairman of the Mental Health Board, in announcing the meeting, said that space is urgently needed for the center.

He stressed that recruitment of necessary basic professional personnel is blocked because room is lacking in the present quarters of the Center located in the Tumor Clinic building.

Local Cancer Unit Shows Filmstrip On Smoking Habit

Ulster County Unit of the American Cancer Society recently presented a new filmstrip titled "To Smoke Or Not To Smoke," to the students at the Children's Home in Kingston.

Following the showing, a lively question and answer period was conducted with Dr. John R. Roberts as guest speaker. A new pamphlet "Shall I Smoke?" was distributed to those present.

The objective of the filmstrip graphically presents significant information regarding the serious and rapidly increasing health problem of lung cancer, and the evidence that shows cigarette smoking is a strong causal factor in the disease.

The program was arranged through the cooperation of Gerald Shampo, executive director of the home.

Local Boards Induct Three in U. S. Army

Four Ulster County young men—one from Kingston—were inducted early last week in the Army.

Local Board No. 18 of Kingston inducted Eugene J. Steltz of 14 Stuyvesant Street.

Local Board 18 of Ulster County inducted Joseph S. Zanuccelli of Elting Corners, Highland; Walter R. Born Jr., of Tillson, and John R. Short Jr., of East Stout Street, Port Ewen. The group left for Fort Dix, N. J. for basic training today.

Think It Through

E. F. HUTTON
MINORITY REPORT

"As long as water flows, or grass grows upon the earth, or the sun rises to show your pathway, or you kindle your campfires, so long shall you be protected by this Government, and never again removed from your present habitation."

Such was the promise, in 1854, of Senator Sam Houston of Texas to the American Indians.

But hang a shroud on the door of the Supreme Court Building in Washington. By a vote of 6 to 3, the Court has ruled that the Federal Power Commission and the State of New York can take away, over their objection, 1,000 acres of land from the Tuscarora Indian Nation, which the Indians have owned since 1804.

For reasons too long to state here, the six Judges declare that the land can be lawfully taken by eminent domain.

Maybe so. But what the minority Judges say is worth reading:

"These Indians have a way of life which the Government has seen fit to protect, if not to encourage.... It may be hard for us to understand why they cling so tenaciously to their lands and traditional tribal way of life...."

"Great nations, like great men, should keep their promises." It is too bad that this thought did not occur to the Court six years ago when it decided the case of the segregated schools. For Congress and the Court had protected and encouraged such schools for decades.

U. S. Coast Guard Offers Young Men Choice Enlistment

For the first time in many months, all qualified men between the ages of 17 and 25 will be offered immediate enlistment in the U. S. Coast Guard and a choice of date of enlistment and departure for basic training, according to Rear Admiral Henry C. Perkins, commander, Third Coast Guard District.

Admiral Perkins announced that the Coast Guard will greatly expand its openings for enlistment in the regular service due in part to the tremendous increase of pleasure craft and small boat activities in the United States, search and rescue operations, and its law enforcement program.

Newly enlisted recruits receive their 12 weeks basic training at the Coast Guard Training Center, Cape May, N. J. During that time they are given the opportunity to qualify for specialized training in such fields as electronics, radio, mechanics, aerology, photography, clerical, radar and sonar. Recruit training includes small boat handling, deck seamanship, small arms and ordnance indoctrination, communications, fire-fighting, and military etiquette.

Active duty assignments available include major Coast Guard cutters, small search and rescue craft, aids to navigation vessels, patrol boats, lifeboat stations, and other shore stations. Service in the Coast Guard, one of the five Armed Forces, fulfills the obligations for military service in all respects.

Enlistees are not required to be high school graduates, but students are encouraged to complete the current school year. Ex-servicemen are eligible for enlistment and will be enlisted in ratings compatible with their former grade, training, and the needs of the service.

A Coast Guard representative is available to give further information and to initiate the processing of applicants for this accelerated program at the Coast Guard Recruiting Station, Room 129, Custom House, New York 4.

Why We Say--

S-16 SPENDTHRIFT

BIG SPENDER: This word appears as a contradiction if you look at the words spend and thrift written together. A spendthrift is a big spender, but the thrift means that he spends the thrift or savings of another... such as a son who inherits his father's fortune and promptly goes out to spend it.

Problem: Find Missing Queen

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

The Professor was holding forth to the usual rapt audience. The subject was the two-way finesse for a missing queen. The Professor said:

"When you have nothing else to go on, count the hand. Then play the man with more cards in the suit for the queen. You will win more than half the time that way."

He continued:

"Here is a hand where I got the count, but used my knowledge of my opponent's psychology and went against the mathematics to play the short hand for the lady."

"West opened the queen of clubs. I promptly faced my hand on the table and showed my opponents that I had to find the queen of hearts. Then I proceeded to run off all my cards in the other suits."

"Each opponent was smart enough to throw a heart quickly so that when I got around to playing the heart suit I would not know which opponent had started with four. However, the jack of clubs had not appeared and West's opening lead had marked him with that card.

"Hence, West was going out of his way to show me that he had started with exactly three hearts and his partner with exactly four."

"Now my problem was to decide why West was being so nice to me. I finally came to the conclusion that he was trying a double cross with the queen right in his hand and played him for it."

Health for AllBright, Healthy Sunshine?

When is sunshine like a chocolate frappe with whipped cream? Well, everyone knows—especially the kids—that a chocolate frappe with whipped cream is very nourishing and healthy. All those vitamins! And proteins! And just plain goodness! But of course—as most kids know, too—too many frappes can make you mighty sick.

The same thing is true of sunshine, believe it or not. Years ago the great beauties of the sun used to go to great pains to allow even a little bit of sunlight to touch their delicate skins. Might ruin their loveliness, they claimed. Do you know that they were perfectly right?

A Texas physician recently told a symposium on "Sunlight and the Skin" that many of the visible signs of aging are the result of accumulated damage caused by sunlight. The ultraviolet rays from the sun, the doctor told his fellow physicians, cause sunburn, pigmentary changes, and even skin cancers.

Among the skin changes related to exposure to sunlight are a dry, coarse, and leathery appearance and a skin laxity that means wrinkling. Besides there are various changes in color, because of the effect of the sun's rays on the skin's pigments. What's more, the sun-damaged skin may have a tendency to develop skin tumors, some of which may be non-malignant. But others might turn out to be malignant (cancerous), the doctor said.

Fortunately, the man from Texas reassures us that suntan lotions do their job very well. Those that are derivatives of para-aminobenzoic acid are probably best. So let's remember to take our suntan lotion along.

Let's get all the good healthy sunshine we can but not too much. Remember those chocolate frappes with whipped cream!

Glancing Over TV Bill of Fare

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP-TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The chilly statistics of public fancy have led television networks into the stockpiling business. All three do it, but the National Broadcasting Co. probably will have more shows warming up in TV's bullpen than any of the others next fall.

"One out of three new shows succeed—if you're lucky," says Alan Courtney, NBC vice president of program administration.

"In television it has been the custom to put on the shelf shows that you're unsure about. But we are establishing an inventory of shows we think are tops, so that we are prepared to replace the failures by January."

Courtney, for instance, is pretty excited over a series called "The Barbarians," set in ancient times and produced in Rome. One of reasons it is on the shelf instead of the sales counter is because of production problems. These should be solved within a few months, and "The Barbarians" will be one of the replacement shows of the new TV season.

"It takes around 12 weeks to get a series ready," explains Courtney. "Even if you have the concept, you must get the script in shape, cast it and shoot it. In other years, we've had to rush things through. Next season, we'll be ready."

Recommended tonight: Steve Allen Show, NBC, 10-11—Ginger Rogers, Tony Bennett and Erroll Garner, guests.

Dies on Golf Course

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N.Y. (AP)—Paul B. Hilleboe, a member of the Saratoga Springs Authority and brother of the state health commissioner, died of a heart attack while playing golf Sunday.

Hilleboe, 51, operated an automobile agency in Saratoga Springs. He was the brother of Commissioner Herman E. Hilleboe.

The authority operates the state-owned reservation and mineral baths.

County Official Dies

WILLSBORO, N.Y. (AP)—Livingston Hatch, chairman of the Essex County Board of Supervisors, died Friday at his home. A Republican, he had been a member of the board for 20 years. He became chairman Jan. 1. Hatch, 69, was a building contractor.

Plaque Is Placed On Livingstone Grave

CLAYERACK, N.Y. (AP)—A plaque decorated the grave today of Colin H. Livingstone, who helped found the Boy Scouts of America 50 years ago.

About 1,200 persons, including members of 60 scout troops, filled the yard of the Reformed Church in this Columbia County village Sunday for the ceremony.

Livingstone, a banker, industrialist and railroad executive, served as first president of the National Council of the Boy Scouts of America from 1910 to 1925. He died in 1943.

McKneally Says Spy Trips Needed For U.S. Survival

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Martin McKneally of Newburgh, N.Y., national commander of the American Legion, says spy trips over Russia are necessary for American survival.

McKneally, at founder's day ceremonies Saturday, said "I, for one American, suffer no embarrassment over the U-2 incident. Our duty because of the dilemma facing the world today is to gather facts necessary for our very survival."

He told the ceremonies honoring the founding of the Legion 41 years ago that "fear of atomic destruction doesn't provide us with a solution to our dilemma."

McKneally lashed out at those who say the dangers of nuclear war are so great that it is better to surrender American ideals than risk losing peaceful existence. "In this age there is no neutrality, we are either for freedom or against freedom," he said.

Report on State Aid

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP)—Cities, towns and villages in New York State have received $24,253,498 in per capita state aid, the state comptroller's office said Sunday.

Cities receive $6.75 for each inhabitant, towns $3.55 and villages $3. The aid may be used for any municipal purpose.

More than half the state's two-billion-dollar budget is earmarked for various types of aid, most of which must be used for specific purposes, such as highways or schools.

Apple Blossoms Decorate Valley Area This Week

Apple blossoms are beginning to decorate roadside orchards all over New York State.

The delicate pink and white blossoms have already burgeoned out in the applegrowing region of the Hudson Valley, says the State Commerce Department, with the peak display in the area due for this weekend. The Department predicts that the fragrance and color will then spread to orchards in the Western part of the state near Lake Ontario, reaching its high point there about May 20.

With the help of the apple growers associations, the Department has worked out a tour through each of these regions for motorists desiring to enjoy the glorious blossom display.

For tourists in the Hudson Valley, the trip begins at New Paltz on Route 32, south of Modena. The apple-blossom trail then goes on a country road to the communities of Latiertown and Marlboro on Route 9W. From here, the apple trail turns north and east over the Mid-Hudson Bridge near Poughkeepsie.

Heading south on the Noxon Road near Arlington on the outskirts of Poughkeepsie, the motorist can follow the orchards to the Taconic State Parkway. The Parkway itself, at this time of year, is strikingly scenic. One of the quickest routes to New Paltz, the Department adds, is via the New York State Thruway to Interchange 18.

Apple blossoms herald not only the spring, but are the symbols of the big New York State apple crop which totals some 16,500,000 bushels each year. This is the second largest in the nation.

Varieties of apples grown include the Baldwin, Delicious, Cortland, McIntosh, Milton, Northern Spy, Northwestern and Rhode Island Greening, and the Rome Beauty.

The Commerce Department suggests that the tourist take along the free 192-page guidebook which describes other interesting points of interest. Copies may be obtained by writing to the State Department of Commerce, P. O. Box 1350, Albany.

Suffers Fatal Attack

MASSENA, N.Y. (AP)—Kenneth O. Cogger, chief engineer at the Aluminum Co. of America plant here, suffered a fatal attack Saturday while driving and his automobile struck a tree.

Cogger, 46, was driving home after playing softball. Hospital authorities said Cogger died of natural causes, rather than of injuries in the automobile accident.

Jimmy Sims Runs 4:31 Mile at New Paltz for Relay Record

18 Marks Are Broken At Ninth Annual Meet

BY ED PALLADINO
Freeman Sports Staff

Moving into the lead just before the finish of the third lap, Jimmy Sims, the undefeated Kingston High School running star, highlighted the ninth running of the Hudson Valley Relays Saturday with a record smashing performance in the Invitation Mile.

Sims ran the course in the glittering time of 4 minutes, 31 seconds, to break by a second the mark of 4:32, set in 1958 by Ray Westendorp of Linton High. The speedy senior also set a new Kingston High mark. The previous record was set last year by Ray Peterson with a time of 4:38. To make the record more emphatic, Sims ran against a combination of a chilly day and a slight drizzle, which fell prior to and during the race.

A total of 18 records were broken at the relays Saturday. Almost a thousand athletes from 46 schools participated while hundreds of spectators, equipped with umbrellas and rain coats, stayed through almost the entire proceedings, which lasted more than seven hours.

Simms, who had competed only in half-mile distances this season, was sixth at the quarter with the front runner's time being 70 seconds. At the halfway mark, the KHS ace lagged a close third and was very much in the race. The time for the half was a fair 2.21.

Moves Into Lead

As the eight star-studded runners started around the turn coming to the three-quarter mark, Sims moved up on the outside and started to let out. He reached three-quarter line five yards ahead of his nearest competitor and had raced it in 3:27. Jimmy really opened up the last 400 yards and he won by about 18 yards over second place finisher John Baron of Linton.

Simms ran the last half mile in 2:10, a tremendous time considering the conditions of the track, which was wet and slippery from the drizzle.

Baron was a well-beaten second and he just enough to nose out Jim Daly of Tappan Zee, who finished third. John Dockstader, the Newburgh Free Academy star, was a distant fourth.

Mile Winner

Lloyd Bartee, a slim, long-legged runner, won the Invitation 100-yard dash, edging out John Walker of Nyack at the finish line. The time of 10.2 seconds was well over the mark, set last year by Andy Spodris of Hudson. He did it in a fantastic 9.6. Ed Oliver of Suffern was fourth and Len Matthews of Highland Falls fifth in this race, which featured the eight fastest 100-yard runners in the area.

The result of the relays:

Invitation Mile—Won by Sims, Kingston; second, Baron, Linton; third, Daly, Tappan Zee. Time—4 minutes, 31 seconds. (Breaks old record of 4:32 set by R. Westendorp, Linton, 1958).

Hawks Lose in Tennis

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Carl Studer, Jr., son of the late Carl (Doc) Studer of the pre-war era in Kingston, is making it big as a movie actor in France.

Studer, who went into the movie business after an exciting career in other fields, had a leading role in "Pantaklas" which opened on Feb. 30 and has since been rated among the top twenty French films of the season. It deals with a Herculean Lithuanian who is lost in Paris and gets involved with things Parisienne.

Young Studer was in federal service for several years, then joined the Central Intelligence Agency and was involved in the Guatamalan revolution.

His dad was a colorful pre-war boxing manager and promoter, and a masseur and physical culture expert who had offices in the old Sahlbergs building which was leveled to make way for the George Washington School. Carl Jr. appears to have inherited some of the dash and adventurous spirit of his father. His next movie project has an American theme and is entitled: "Two Men in Manhattan."

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

The 40th annual tennis tournament at Lake Mohonk Mountain House will be held June 20-25 under the auspices of the Eastern Lawn Tennis Association. Competition is scheduled in men's and women's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles.

Frenchy's of Poughkeepsie, a 775 average outfit, won $750 first prize in the annual Dutchess Red Handicap with a 3281 gross, rolling 2606 with 675 handicap. DeLuco Enterprise of Hartford won the net prize with a 2,858 tally, edging Jones Dairy of Kingston by nine pins. . . . William W. Patterson of Kingston has won a junior varsity managerial letter in swimming at Princeton University. . . . Bill Schwarz, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schwarz of Stone Ridge, is rated a key player on the Potsdam State tennis varsity squad. . . . Johnny Podres' little brother, Walt, six-foot right hander, is pitching impressively for St. Michael's College at Winona Park, Vt. . . . Joan Peterson rolled 1573 to capture the all-events crown in the Poughkeepsie Bowling Association's annual tournament. Rosemary Scalli finished fourth with 1524 and teamed with Beulah Johnson to take the net doubles with 1103.

• Baseball Notes:

Ernie Banks became the Chicago Cubs' all-time home run king when he hit lifetime No. 232 on April 29. The Cub super star eclipsed the former Chicago high of 231, hit by Gabby Hartnett during his illustrious career. Eddie Mathews' second 1960 home run moved him past Rogers Hornsby and Chuck Klein into the seventh spot on the all-time list of NL home run leaders. The Braves third baseman now shoots for the sixth spot, held by Johnny Mize who homered 315 times in NL competition. Cincinnati's Roy McMillan has picked up where he left off as a home run hitter of note before being injured last year on June 14. Never regarded as a power hitter the Reds' shortstop had hit nine homers before being shelved by a broken hand. "Good field, not hit," is a label applied to Chico Fernandez, brilliant shortstop for the Detroit Tigers. But Luke Appling, the Tiger coach, warns that is only because Fernandez is so very good in the field that his batting capabilities are minimized. Says the former American League batting great: "Chico has a good swing and can hit a ball solid. He certainly can never be classified as an 'automatic out'."

HE SAID IT: Dow Finsterwald, telling how he approaches golf: "I have a goofy way of playing golf. I just try to keep hitting the ball and when I win I feel I'm lucky."

Billy Boo Edges Bud Glass In Feature at Rhinebeck

Billy Boo, the stock car ace from Pawling, scored his first feature win of the 1960 season at Rhinebeck Speedway Saturday.

Boo earned every foot of his victory as he battled side by side with Bud Glass of Hurley. Glass, a 20-year veteran in racing, jumped into a nearly lead and clung stubbornly to the lead until the last three laps when Boo saw an inside opening and edged past Glass for victory.

Chasing Boo and Glass across the finish line were John Van Leuvan, Al Ostrander, Ben Stone, Dick Hansen, Hoppy Jensen, Bob Snyder, John Ahlf and Sid Niecamp.

Pete Simmons of Saugerties copped the sedan feature which was the roughest of the year so far. He was trailed by Ron Van Etten, Dick Rickey, Vernon Dixon and Bob Simpson.

One Accident

Racing was close and tricky throughout the evening as moisture on the racing surface kept the track slippery. In the first lap of the feature, Vinnie Becker of Red Hook went wide and flipped over the rail on the homestretch, demolishing his car and giving everyone a tense moment or two.

Next week's card will include a 50-lap "madcap" feature with many more new cars on tap. The summaries:

First Heat—Ben Stone, Bob Snyder, Harry Brazeau.
Second Heat—Hal McCarty, Billy Boo, Vinnie Becker.
Third Heat—Bill King, Billy Boo, Bud Glass.

Fourth Heat—Pete Simmons, Don Shaw, Ike Houghtaling.
Fifth Heat—Ron Van Etten, Walt Waslowski, Roger Edelman.

The Giants in the first month at their new home won 14 and lost five, the latest triumph Sunday 2-0 whitewash of Los Angeles. Johnny Antonelli's six-hitter was the fourth shutout in five games and the fifth consecutive complete game by a Giant pitcher.

The Redlegs split a double-header with Philadelphia, losing 14-3 in the Crosley Field opener, winning the second game 5-1.

Sam Jones, a right-hander with a 4-2 record, is matched against the Redlegs' Bob Purkey, 2-1, in the opener of the two-game series.

Gordon Krajna Keeps His Unbeaten String With 16th Straight

Gordon Krajna continued his winning streak but the New Paltz Hawks dropped a 4-2 tennis decision to East Stroudsburg (Pa.) State Teachers college Saturday at the Ulster campus. Doubles matches were rained out.

Krajna, who has won 16 consecutive matches over a two-year period, halted his opponent in easy fashion by 6-3, 6-0 scores. Ron Mutchnik also won, 6-1, 6-0.

Losers for the Hawks, who dropped their first match of the season, were Jim Dillman, 7-9, 6-4, 2-6; Jack Gatje, 2-6, 6-2, 6-8; Pete Phillips, 1-6, 6-0, 5-7; and Peter Chan, 7-5, 2-6, 4-6.

The Hawk losers all carried their opponents to three games. Some excellent tennis was featured between two of the top schools in the area.

Notice to Leagues

If area Little Leagues want their scores published in the sports pages of The Freeman they should observe the following rules:

First and last names of the players should be clearly printed or typed on the score sheet. If more than one pitcher or catcher was used, it should be also stated. Singles, doubles, triples, home runs and other incidentals important to the game, should be clearly put on the sheet.

Games should be reported by 9 a.m. the day after they are played. The score sheets must be mailed or delivered to this office. No phone calls will be accepted. Those not reaching this office by 9 the next morning, will not be published. In case of Saturday games, they must be here by 9 on Monday morning.

If these rules are followed, your leagues will receive coverage. If they are not, we will not publish the scores.

Action Is Heavy In Esopus League

Action in the Esopus Legion Little League at Ross Park last week saw the Braves top the Dodgers, 7-3; the Giants nip the Braves, 6-5; and the Yankees wallop the Dodgers, 10-6.

John Sentar struck out 10 batters in pitching the Braves to the triumph against the Dodgers. Some timely hitting by Sentar and Dick Ives plus loose fielding aided in the victory. Paul Colukas was the losing chucker.

The Braves scored in five different innings against the Giants and the winners tallied in five frames, but a two run fourth proved to be the difference. Bob Katcher and Tom Zoda had triples in this one. Craig Johnson picked up the decision.

Both the Yankees and Dodgers had their base hit bats with them in the other game with the Dodgers getting the worst of the battle though they outhit the opposition for the second straight time.

Roger Wells had a pair of triples and Chuck Bernard also hit two triples. Ray Wells slammed a double.

Bill Barth picked up the decision over Floyd Light.

The line scores:

R H
Dodgers 110 010 — 3 7
Braves 402 01x — 7 6

John Sentar and Craig Johnson; Paul Colukas and Steven Seward.

R H
Braves 101 111 — 5 9
Giants 111 21x — 6 12

Craig Johnson and Richard Ives; McElrath and Dennis Ahearn.

R H
Yankees 240 220 — 10 8
Dodgers 111 120 — 6 9

Bill Barth and Tom Bell; Floyd Light and Ernest Cummings.

Dodgers, Tigers Win Hurley Tilts

Seven runs in the fifth inning carried the Dodgers to a 14-7 verdict over the Red Sox in Town of Hurley Little League action on Saturday. In the other tilt, the Tigers drubbed the Yankees, 12-5.

The Dodgers had only six hits off two Red Sox hurlers but they received 11 bases on balls and benefited from several errors. There were no extra base hits for either side. Bob Stahl was the winner over Alan Vogt.

Don Timpkins collected three hits, including a double, and hurled a three-hitter to lead the Tigers over the Yanks. The winners opened the scoring with a four-run first inning and then snapped a tie with a singleton in the third and four in the fourth.

The line scores:

R H
Dodgers 103 172 — 14 6
Red Sox 002 032 — 7 8

Bob Stahl, Vince Crantz and Bert Markle; Alan Vogt, Charles Moore and Roddy Gorn.

R H
Tigers 401 403 — 12 7
Yanks 220 100 — 5 3

Don Tompkins and Mike O'Connor; Don Cashdollar and Chip Jones.

Dick Howard Rolls 201 Average in Major Loop

Dick Howard outdistanced the Bowlero Major League field by more than seven points in the race for individual averaging, compiling a final mark of 201.91 for the 105-game route.

The bespectacled ace's nearest competitor was Tom Carlino, who posted 194.69 and rolled individual high marks of 300 and 276. Harold Broskie and Charlie Manro finished with identical averages of 194.12. Bob Shelighthorn, 192.59; Phil Battaglia, 192.36; and William Lawrence, 190.55, rounded out the 190 group.

Miron Lumber won the team championship with a record of 70 wins and 35 losses, and also compiled high team averages of 288. Miron's 1104 and Dwyer Brothers 3103 were top team marks. Members of the championship squad are: Bob Shelighthorn, Ray Hendricks, Kildy Corrado, Fred Di Bella and Phil Battaglia.

Russia Protests Flight of Plane

BONN, Germany (AP) — The Soviet Union protested today that an unidentified plane flying in from West Germany violated air space of Communist East Germany May 5. An Allied spokesman said the plane was a small French tourist aircraft that strayed across the Iron Curtain.

The spokesman said the incident was routine and the French representative at the four-power air safety center in Berlin had apologized to Soviet authorities.

"We get about eight of these incidents a month," one Allied official said.

Nevertheless the Soviets went ahead with a full-scale protest, fired off notes to the three Western powers.

Delivery of the notes apparently was timed with the opening of the summit conference in Paris. The French Embassy said the aircraft was a sport plane with one occupant. It was flying from Strasbourg, in eastern France, to Malmö, southern Sweden, and got lost en route, an embassy spokesman said.

Pitt Sizzles Against Braves With Many Hits

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The red-hot Pittsburgh Pirates left Milwaukee's County Stadium echoing with the stinging ring of base hits. And the Braves' highly-touted pitching corps was in a virtual state of shock.

The Pirates blasted out 57 hits, 21 for extra bases, to capture the series three games to one and take a firmer hold on second place in the National League flag chase.

Pittsburgh belted the Braves 6-4 in the opener of a double-header Sunday, but then had a five-game winning streak snapped as the Braves salvaged the series wind-up 4-2 on Hank Aaron's three-homer homer.

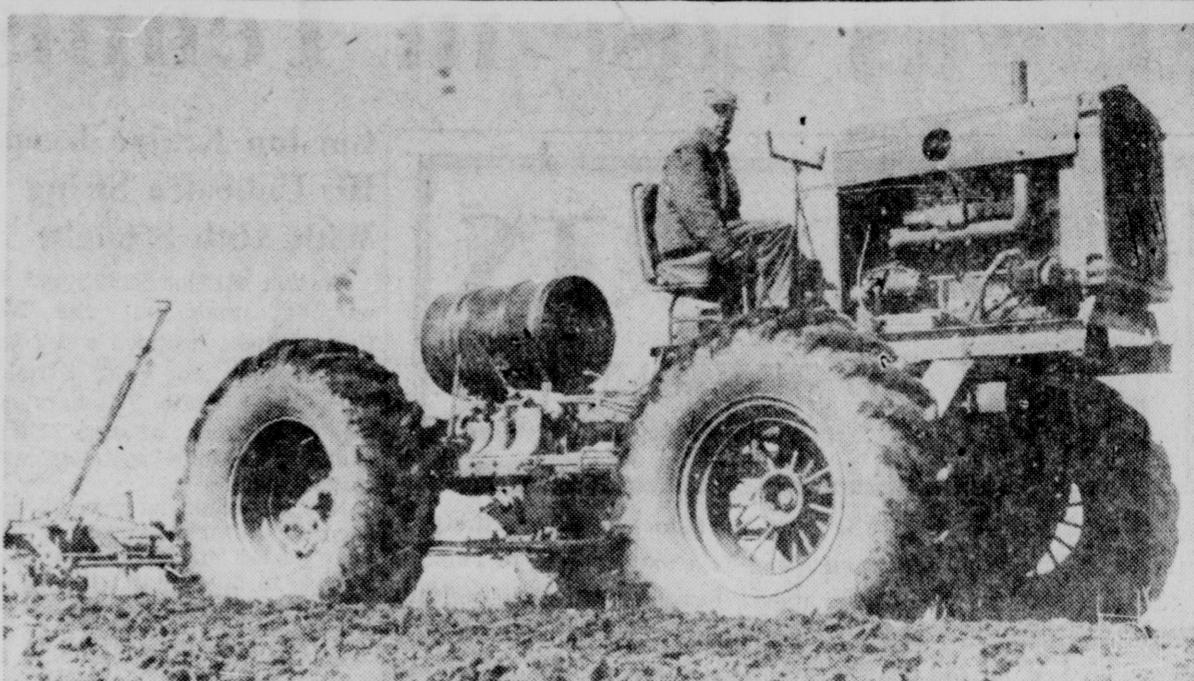

"We ran out of timely hits in the second game," said Pittsburgh Manager Danny Murtaugh. "Otherwise, we would have had a sweep. We have a long home stand opening Tuesday and if the boys can keep hitting we should do all right."

The Pirates enjoyed a field day at the expense of the Braves until finally stopped by southpaw Juan Pizarro and relief artist Don McMahon in the nightcap of the twin bill. They still managed 11 hits.

"They were hot and there was no stopping them," said Milwaukee Manager Charlie Dressen. "But let's wait until July and August. They don't have a lineup of 400 hitters. They all do come down sometime."

FOUR-WHEEL-DRIVE TRACTOR—Alex Bracken, who farms about 600 acres near Kankakee, Ill., uses a hybrid four-wheel-drive tractor built last winter. He used rear ends of two tractors and a 100-h.p. industrial engine from an old hammer mill. The five-ton tractor can pull six 16-inch plows and a 21-foot tandem disc. Bracken says it cuts his field time in half.

TENTH ANNIVERSARY OF STORE — Herman G. Rafalowsky is shown above in his popular clothing store, 71 Albany Avenue, where the public will register for awards to be made Saturday afternoon, May 28.

Rafalowsky Store to Observe Special Appreciation Event

Area residents will have an opportunity to share in merchandise awards worth more than $1,000 without obligation later this month, when Herman G. Rafalowsky, prominent merchant and proprietor of a clothing store and haberdashery at 71 Albany Avenue, shows his "appreciation" for patronage by the public.

Mr. Rafalowsky, a civic and religious leader in addition to being one of Kingston's outstanding merchants, said that he is giving away free and without obligation many items of nationally known merchandise to show his "sincere gratitude and appreciation" to the people who have made it possible for him to increase business at the Albany Avenue Store.

The 10-day event will mark 46 years in business here, a prosperous business directed and conducted by the prominent merchant.

Register at Store

Starting on May 18 and continuing until early afternoon of Saturday, May 28, the public will have an opportunity to register at Rafalowsky's clothing store. "There will be no gimmicks, nothing to purchase," the merchant said. "All that will be required is for people to visit the store and fill out registration cards, or fill out a registration blank to be published in The Freeman and take it in person to the store."

Rafalowsky said the awards will be made at 3 p. m. on May 28, and he added those who will receive the awards will not be required to be present when they are announced, but they will be notified. Each woman who registers will receive a special gift, the merchant said.

"I am doing this," Rafalowsky said, "to show my appreciation to the public for helping me build up my business to what it is today."

Rafalowsky's store is one of the most modern and leading business establishments in the area. Three tailors are on the staff.
